

The summer of good food and wine

The Summer Good Food and Wine Show hit the Coca Cola Dome, in Northriding, Johannesburg, from 30 October - 2 November 2008, and featured more than 300 exhibitors.

Visitors to the four-day exhibition experienced cutting-edge food and demonstrations by an army of international chefs including Australian Curtis Stone; British-born Caribbean food maestro Patrick Williams; Thai food expert and Michelin star chef, David Thompson, the infamous Tanner brothers James and Chris, old favourites Brian Turner and Andrew Nutter, and Rachel Allen dubbed “the blonde Nigella”.
