

SA journalist wins international prize

Regular Men's Health contributor Tom Nevin was recently announced as the overall winner of the international Novo Nordisk Media Prize, which recognises excellence in print writing on diabetes, for his Men's Health November 2005 article "Type-2 Time Bomb". This is the second consecutive year this prize, worth €10 000, has been awarded not only to a South African, but also to a Touchline Media magazine - Shape deputy editor Justine Joseph won last year.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>