

Consciousness Coaching SA welcomes sales and marketing director

Brett Shuttleworth, best known for his international Supermodel status, has over the past five years trained and qualified as an accredited life coach and motivator and now takes up the position as the National Sales and Marketing Director for Consciousness Coaching, South Africa. His international life experience and coaching expertise benefits not only individuals but also the corporate sector, sportsmen and women and those in the hospitality industry.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>