

New Forbes Woman Africa show premieres this week

LAGOS, Nigeria - The first episode of new Forbes Woman Africa show, 'Against The Odds with Peace Hyde', due to air June 30, will feature Oby Ezekwesili, creator of the #BringBackOurGirls campaign.

The women empowerment show, Against The Odds with Peace Hyde is set to premiere on Friday June 30, 2017, on Pan African Business Channel CNBC Africa, Channel 410 on DSTV.

The show is the latest instalment from Forbes Woman Africa, depicting the journey of some of the most influential women in West and Southern Africa who have achieved remarkable feats while defying the odds.

In the first episode, Oby Ezekwesili, creator of the #BringBackOurGirls campaign, talks about her harrowing experience in fighting corruption in Nigeria from her early days as the co-founder of Transparency International; to the shock and horror of finding out about the abduction of over 270 girls in Chibok, Borno State, Nigeria.

Watch the promo: <http://APO.af/FsLa7x>.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>